Landino

Product family

Children‘s furniture for playgrounds and kindergartens.

To make the public space usable for all people, furniture is required which invites to it. Most seats and tables are too high for small children. That is why BURRI has also designed furniture suitable for children. Landino is based on the Landi line, but is a simplified version of it. The material combination remains the same, including a hot-dip galvanised substructure that is concealed and screwed together. The design and the entire construction is somewhat simpler, suitable for children. Landino is already in use in many playgrounds and numerous kindergartens in Switzerland.
